

New Irish flute: Available NOW !!!

Designed especially to play the Irish music, this flute has all the qualities of a traditional Irish flute like a powerfull sound (even in the lower tones), same fingerings, and an accurate pitch.

But this flute is also shock-resistant, scratch-free and doesn't suffer from humidity.

The design moves away from the tradition of 'traverso', the baroque flute which is even today still inspiring the actual artisanal Irish flute. With an innovative and modern design, the cylindrical form and an elaborated mouthpiece, this new flute produces really a particularly bright sound. And, for a democratic price ...

This magnificent flute offers a real progres and a very nice alternative for the traditional Irish flutes..

Sales Price: 125 € - Exceptional 'launching' price for all orders in may 2008: 99 €

Our clients experience ...

Steven De Baecke

Professor for flute

(Music Academies of Eeklo and Oud-Heverlee in Belgium)

Flutist - Composer - Autor

www.stevendebaecke.be

"Your pedagogic flute is really a very good instrument when starting the study of the flute. The sound and acoustics are corresponding with the big modern flute. My daughter and I appreciate this instrument very much: solid, nice design, good acoustics and especially a correct intonation. Nice work !"

Adams Flute Festival: 19-20 april 2008

Coulon-Duffy was of coarse present at the Flute Festival exhibition organised by Adams Muziekcenter in Ittervoort near Eindhoven in the Netherlands (www.adams.nl), with his 20.000 m2 one of the largest music stores in the Benelux. On the left Luc Duffy and Pierre Coulon, on the right a few admirers of our flutes ...